

Workshop on Arthropod-Borne Diseases transmitted by ticks, mites, fleas, and lice

1st announcement

Dear colleagues,

We kindly invite you to participate at the Workshop on Arthropod-Borne Diseases transmitted by ticks, mites, fleas, and lice which will take place on 15-16 November 2018 organized by the Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut and the Fraunhofer Institute Leipzig (IZI).

Cornelia Silaghi Klaus Henning
Gustavo R. Makert dos Santos

Topics:

- Epidemiology of pathogens in arthropods from natural and anthropized ecosystems
- Lyme Disease: Borrelia burgdorferi
- Q fever: Coxiella burnetii
- Other tick-borne pathogens: FSMEV, Anaplasma, Ehrlichia, Babesia, etc.

- pathogens transmitted by mites, fleas and lice: Rickettsia, Bartonella, etc.
- vaccine development
- vector-host-pathogen-interactions
- diagnostic methods
- pest management

© FLI

Venue:

Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut
Federal Research Institute for Animal Health
Südufer 10
D-17493 Greifswald - Isle of Riems

Conference language: English.

Abstract submission:

Oral presentations and posters are welcome.

Abstracts will be submitted electronically at the conference homepage.

Deadline for submission:

31 August 2018

Registration will be done electronically at the conference homepage.

Registration fee:

The fee (55 €) includes the abstract book, lunch, coffee and soft drinks.

Recipient: Friedrich-Loeffler-Institut
Bank Sparkasse Jena Saale Holzland
IBAN - No.: DE85 8305 3030 0000 1521 45
BIC-Code: HELADEF1JEN

Reference: Arthropod Workshop

Please do not wait too long to register as we have a capacity limitation of 40 participants!

Contact:

Cornelia.Silaghi@fli.de

Klaus.Henning@fli.de

Birgit.Kruse@fli.de

Conference homepage:

<https://nrl-qfieber.fli.de/index.php?id=5>